Letter of reference

Over the past five years Intellect UK Ltd have been involved in a number of projects for Corus at Redcar cokes ovens.

During this time they have proved to be a professional, flexible, competitive and reliable service provider who I would recommend to other companies.

Their work is carried out efficiently and to a very high standard, this has led to an excellent working relationship that gives me great confidence in employing them on future projects.

In recent years they have worked on a number of CDM projects as the main electrical contractor, this work has involved electrical installation and panel building and for the most recent project Intellect took on the role of principle contractor for the CDM site.

Their safety record has been exemplary without a single lost time injury or recordable accident.

Yours sincerely
