Re: Intellect UK: Reference Letter

With regards to the above company, we can confirm that they have carried out work for our company for the last five years. The first contract carried out by Intellect was between 2004 – 2006 for the £3.7M Warkworth Water Treatment Works Upgrade which involved a very intricate replacement of existing pumps, HV and LV services at a contractual cost of £350K. Intellect's input both in terms of assisting in temporary works design and programming of the interfaces were extremely helpful, in carrying out the installation and decommissioning works the end product quality was extremely good and the staff interface with ourselves and the clients operations were exemplary, as was noted on post project reviews with our client Northumbrian Water Ltd.

Further work undertaken by Intellect has been predominantly involved within our Framework Pumping Station Refurbishment Programme with Northumbrian water Ltd, with values of work varying from £15K to £120K, and involving both HV and LV interfaces.

Intellect have a very solid reputation within our industry and have always been available to give MWHC a superb service whether it is in pricing and programming feasibility work or site installation. As well as being competitive their main attributes are their understanding of the work and how it should be programmed and planned, and their flexibility in meeting both deadlines and overcoming delays not directly attributable to them.

I would certainly highly recommend them for any work that would be required to be undertaken.

Yours faithfully
